

We do more than building buildings.
We're building solutions.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

DOUGLAS F. DAVIS, CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

Douglas Davis's construction experience and abilities cover a broad range, being a second generation general contractor within the corporation his father founded in 1960. As a young man working ten years in the field, he gained the invaluable experiences of surveying, all forms of concrete placement and finishing, masonry, carpentry and structural steel erection. He meshed his field experience with academics by earning a bachelor of building construction degree from the University of Florida in 1978. After graduation and under the tutelage of his father, he served Richard K. Davis Construction as a project manager of design build services, developing his skills in contractual negotiation, conceptual land planning and architecture, hiring and managing design teams, budget development, full estimating of contractual costs, buyout and construction management, all with the goal of a satisfied client of single source construction services. In 1997, Douglas stepped up to administrative leadership of the corporation as president. He continues to personally manage projects as he administratively sets the corporate course; currently providing leadership in energy and environmental design as a U.S. Green Building Council accredited professional (LEED AP).
