

We do more than building buildings.
We're building solutions.

MAILBOX WORLD

FORT PIERCE

Scope and Responsibilities:

Jay Bria recognized an opportunity to expand his South Florida business presence into the Treasure Coast by initiating a “powder coating” paint business on property he had purchased in the Kings Highway Industrial Park. He chose to hire the local Design/Build firm Richard K. Davis Construction Corporation to act as his single source representative over the building development process from design and permitting through construction. The inclusion of pre-engineered metal building systems provided Mailbox World the open interior floor space uninterrupted by columns and the high head room needed for their business within an economical solution. The dogleg shape of the property gave the building its distinctive angular architecture.

Date of completion:

March 2008
