PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

NATHAN DAVIS, PROJECT MANAGER

Nathan Davis is a third-generation general contractor within the corporation that his grandfather founded in 1960. During his summer breaks throughout high school, he worked in the field and in the office. In the field, he gained experience working with concrete, masonry, and steel erection crews. In the office, he learned the business side of the industry by helping with paperwork and running plans to the permitting office and subcontractors. After starting college as a business major, he changed course to follow in his father's and grandfather's footsteps. In Construction Management school, he was the project manager for his senior design team that designed, cost estimated, and scheduled an affordable housing community. His senior design team went on to win first place in the construction management/civil engineering category. He graduated from Florida Institute of Technology with a Bachelor's in Construction Management in 2023. He now serves as a Project Manager for Richard K. Davis Construction under the mentorship of his father, Douglas Davis, and Roger Priest.
